

Basketball of the Carolinas 2023 Eligibility Information

Basketball of the Carolinas has adopted the following eligibility rules regarding age and grade-based divisions. These rules are evaluated periodically, and any changes/updates will be posted immediately to our website. Make sure you continue to check the website to make sure you are up to date with the latest eligibility rules and ALL your players are currently playing with the correct age/grade divisions.

Players must show proof of age (copy of birth certificate or another state issued form such as a driver's license or identification card from the DMV) and proof of current grade (copy of school issued report card or progress report from the current school year). Players in 9u/3rd Grade-14u/8th Grade age divisions are still required to provide proof of grade even though those divisions may be based on age also.

Players in 9th-11th/12th grade divisions will have to show proof of age and grade no matter what.

Basketball of the Carolinas HIGHLY recommends that ALL players get a state issued photo ID from the DMV. For 2023 BOC will not require this, but it will be required for ALL players soon. Basketball of the Carolinas suggests that teams go ahead and have all players get these to be prepared for this requirement and to more accurately prove who each player truly is.

Homeschool players must have all proper proof with updated/current STATE DOCUMENTS showing they are allowed by the state to be homeschooled. Homeschool players eligibility is based upon age ONLY.

Note: Boys and Girls eligibility is slightly different.

If you are not sure what division a player belongs in, contact us BEFORE the tournament deadline and we will be glad to help you.
